

CWD

are seeing the disease, so far CWD has not made its way into Winneshiek County, said Terry Haindfield, a DNR wildlife biologist, by email Friday. "The DNR will continue to sample deer in Winneshiek County for surveillance of the disease," said Haindfield.

Is CWD likely to move into Winneshiek County? "Not necessarily," said Haindfield. "With positives in Wisconsin, deer can cross the Mississippi River." Over 6,800 samples were tested during the past season. For those samples testing positive, the DNR contacted involved individuals and sought the meat and bones for disposal in a landfill. All hunters turned over the items. More information can be found at www.iowadnr.gov/cwd

NICC Hosting Exhibit

In honor of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Day and Black History Month in February, Northeast Iowa Community College's Peosta and Calmar campuses will host the traveling national True Black History Museum.

The museum is free and open to the community on these dates:

NICC Peosta Campus, Tuesday, Jan. 22, from 8:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., Community Rooms 203 - 204

NICC Calmar Campus, Wednesday, Jan. 23, from 8:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., Student Center, Library fireplace area

The traveling black history exhibits display artifacts dating from the late 1700s to the 21st Century. The museum was established to preserve the history of African-American people and to educate the community about the many great contributions that African-Americans have made to humanity. The mission is to instill self-esteem and pride and to increase knowledge, awareness, cultural sensitivity and understanding for the historic experience of African-Americans.

The collection takes visitors on a journey through the African-American experience and is comprised of over 1,000 authentic artifacts, with original documents from historic figures such as Booker T. Washington, Mary McLeod Bethune, George Washington Carver, Rosa Parks, Frederick Douglass, Angela Davis, President Barack Obama and many other noteworthy African-Americans.

Fred Saffold, museum CEO, founder and curator, will provide periodic interactive lectures during the day and be available to answer questions.

"My lecture will be about the exhibit entitled, 'A Tribute to the African American Journey.' I will take the audience on a journey through the African-American experience utilizing the artifacts in the exhibit, describing to the audience what they are looking at and reading and why these artifacts have historic significance that [affects] us all today," Saffold said.

"We are thrilled to bring The True Black History Museum and Mr. Saffold to our campuses," said Kara Popp, NICC Diversity Council member and director of student life, diversity and leadership. "What we like about the museum is that it is a 'come and go' event during the day, and the exhibits help community members and students learn things about African-American history they may not have known. Mr. Saffold will also be giving live, periodic presentations throughout the day to accommodate visitors and groups who attend."

Saffold is a decorated retired Lieutenant from the Detroit Police Department, where he was awarded the Police Medal of Valor and Purple Heart. He currently serves as an adjunct instructor at Wayne County Community District (Detroit, Mich.), teaching criminal justice and personal development courses. Saffold is a member of numerous civic organizations, including the NAACP and the Urban League. He is a board member of the Michigan Chapter of Negro League Players and serves on the board for the Day-spring Justice Center; a Detroit based civil rights organization focusing on racial justice. He is an advisory board member of the ACLU of Michigan and serves as co-chairman for the ACLU's School to Prison Pipeline Law Enforcement Advisory Committee.

PUBLIC NOTICE City of Fort Atkinson

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS CITY OF FORT ATKINSON WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 2, 2019 Present: Glass, P. Schmitt, Schneider, and K. Schmitt Absent: Schroeder Mayor Paul Herold called the meeting to order at 7:00 p.m.

Discussed budget items. Barta is getting quotes for street items needed and will get to Johansen. Motion was made by K. Schmitt, seconded by Schneider, to approve the donation to Northeast Iowa Community Action for $349 for FY19-20 as presented. All Aye. Carried. Discussed request by Northeast Iowa Housing Trust Fund. Council requested to see what has been done in the past. Motion was made by Schneider, seconded by P. Schmitt, to approve Calmar Courier to be designated as the official newspaper for the City of Fort Atkinson for FY19-20. All Aye. Carried. Next meeting will be Wednesday, February 6, 2019, at 7pm in the Community Center. Schmitt made a motion to adjourn, P. Schmitt seconded. All Aye. Carried. Meeting adjourned at 8:10 p.m. Attest: City Clerk Mayor Mark Kuhn, Winneshiek County Supervisor, discussed the light at the intersection once again and where the City line ends. Herold will follow up with the marking once he reviews the Articles of Incorporation. Also discussed the bridge and road surface. Schneider asked if it could be wide enough for a bike/walk lane with the traffic going to the park. Kuhn will suggest that to the Engineer. Greg Barta has 8 meters left to install, and may have to wait until spring. Discussed budget items and asked him to prioritize the list by what is needed, then what he would like to do also.

Motion was made by Schneider, seconded by Glass to approve December minutes as presented, and approve Clerk's reports and monthly bills. All Aye. Carried. Zahasky is presenting the written offer to Shatek's for $462,000 for the entire 82.5 acres. The City calculated that offer based off the appraisal plus CRP payments over 30 years. The City will also have him send Separation Waivers to Marv Smith whose property is within 1,000 feet of the project and is being sold to Russell Novak, as we will need their signatures to proceed. Barta hand delivered the $5,000 earnest check to Zahasky's office in Decorah, IA. Herold will follow up in a couple days. No permits were received.

Zahasky has submitted his official letter to resign as City Attorney as he is retiring. Herold asked that we send out RFOs to at least 3 firms within the county. Johansen will send them out.

Advanced Calving Clinics Planned

The Monday, Feb. 4 clinics will be in Maquoketa at the Maquoketa High School Ag Building, 600 Washington St., from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m., and in Independence at the Heartland Acres Event Center, 2600 Swan Lake Boulevard, from 5 to 10 p.m.

Classroom segments include: Dr. Katy Lippolis, Iowa State assistant professor and extension cow-calf specialist: Challenges of beef cows surrounding calving and using nutrition and management to ensure healthy calves, successful rebreeding rates and improved performance.

Dr. Grant Dewell, Iowa State extension beef veterinarian and associate professor: neonatal calf care, including colostrum management, first-day care and vaccine protocols.

Hands-on segments are: Dr. Caitlyn Wiley, Iowa

State clinical assistant professor: tips and tricks to ease calving and demonstration of techniques to simplify pulling malpresentations to result in more live calves, both with the aid of Frosty.

Dr. Mike Slattery of Risius Family Veterinary Clinic will present at Maquoketa and Dr. Jim McMillan of Winthrop Veterinary Clinic will present at Independence. They will discuss and demonstrate ways to provide first aid to cow and calf around time of delivery and share information on providing emergency care before a vet can arrive to help ensure a healthy start and reduce fresh cow incidences.

Both clinics are free of charge. Please register by Jan. 25 by calling the Benton County Extension office at 319-472-4739.

COLORING CONTEST

MarketReady Workshops Scheduled

Iowa State University Extension and Outreach will host MarketReady workshops in January and February. The training is designed to provide producers with the skills and knowledge needed to make sound decisions about diversifying operations into wholesale, retail and institutional market outlets.

The workshops will be: Jan. 29 – Wapello County Extension Office, 13011 120th Avenue, Ottumwa. To register, please call Jessica at Wapello County Extension and Outreach at 641-682-5491 by 4 p.m. Friday, Feb. 25.

Feb. 19 – Citizens State Bank Youth Development Center, 800 N. Maple St., Monticello. To register, please call Nanci at Jones County Extension and Outreach at 319-465-3224 by 4 p.m. Friday, Feb. 15.

Feb. 26 – Cass County Community Center, 805 West 10th Street, Atlantic. To register, please call Kate at Cass County Extension and Outreach at 712-243-1132 by 4 p.m. Friday, Feb. 22.

This training will focus on best marketing practices when dealing with these market outlets, including communications and relationship building, regulations, packaging and labeling, grading, pricing, logistics and more.

The workshop will also include a buyer panel. The intent of this part of the program is for buyers to meet farmers and producers and for both sides of the sales transaction to understand what the other needs in order to supply and buy local food. Panelists will include chefs, grocers and institutional buyers such as those working for school districts and hospitals.

“We decided to bring this program back to Iowa because many farmers expressed interest in diversifying their operations to include wholesale markets,” said Emily Coll, program assistant for the ISU Extension and Outreach Local Foods Program. “We offer them help understanding these markets and deciding whether the return on investment would be acceptable.”

For more information about the workshop, please contact Coll at ecoll@iastate.edu or 515-296-0586. More details are available at www.extension.iastate.edu/localfoods/market-ready-workshops

SW Wrestlers Active

By Michael Hohenbrink Editor

No one can accuse South Winneshiek resulting of taking it easy.

“This last week we had a busy week and wrestled in 9 duals,” said coach Jacob Elsbernd by email Monday. “Tuesday we hosted Don Bosco and Sumner-Fredricksburg. We dropped both duals and I thought we fought hard but were just outmatched. On Thursday we traveled to Riceville. We only competed against Postville and Clayton Ridge. I thought we started out the night kind of rough and lost a couple close matches in the Postville dual. Against Clayton Ridge we wrestled really well and didn’t lose a contested match, only giving up one forfeit to them. We finished the UIC dual season with an overall record of 5-2.”

The Warriors were 0-74 against Don Bosco and 25-49 against Sumner-Fredricksburg.

South Winneshiek defeated Clayton Ridge 78-6 and Postville 48-5.

On Saturday we made the trip to Decorah,” said Elsbernd. “It was great to see some different teams and compete against kids we don’t normally see. This may have been the best we have competed as an entire team as of late. We won duals against Waukon and Waterloo West. Both of these dual[s] our kids competed hard and came out with some big wins. Our young kids have started figuring some things out and that is showing up in their matches. We lost to West Salem, Decorah and St. Charles. We competed really well in these duals even though we lost[.] I thought we wrestled well enough to be in position to win these duals with some small adjustments.”

Decorah’s win was 48-32. West Salem/Bangor, Wisconsin beat the Warriors 42-30, and St. Charles, Minnesota won 42-25.

South Winneshiek beat Waterloo West 39-37 and Waukon 58-18.

“It is great to see these kids continue to work hard and battle,” said Elsbernd. “It’s a long season especially for a young team but I think we are learning from our mistakes and making some necessary improvements. We are finally healthy and that will add some nice depth to our line-up in a few places and will also boost the competitiveness in the room on an everyday basis.”
